DATA ANALYST

Internship

GlobalReachBI is currently launching a project in Predictive Intelligence to support the market launch of innovative patient treatments globally.
To help on this fascinating project, we will require the support of an Intern:

- who has analytical skills with preferably some experience in Predictive Modeling using Montecarlo simulations or other predictive algorithms
- who is proactive with great communication skills in sharing experiences and knowledge, a real team-player
- who wants to take part in the creation of an innovative platform to be deployed to the Pharmaceutical industry

---

Did you recognize yourself in this description, then please do contact us contact@globalreachbi.com